I'm sure this was in another topic somewhere.

It's not because of the card, it's because of the monitor. Its refresh rate is limited to 60-70Hz which in turn limits the graphics cards output to 60-70 FPS. It's not your machine, it's your monitor.

I would recommend not messing about with the refresh rate since i predict that monitor cost alot of money and wouldn't be nice blowing up in your face would it?
