I should be home from work around 4 pm, send me the .lvl file then and I will have a look and see what is wrong.

If you have just started and not done much else I might aswell create the .lvl files for the two flying maps and you can add them on game-maps? God knows how many times those maps have had to be editted to change them to flying, but no fucker releases the source for them. Yeah, infact I will do that tonight regardless.
