Thats a joke on TV i heard, cracked me up....but yes, all this typing Crimson is doing is causing massive exhaustion WHICH then causes Crimson to pant heavily, this panting causes a reaction which makes her gasp for oxygen, thus obtaining her oxygen, she exhales c02 which raises into the ceiling of her house, once massive amounts have built up, they soon slowly exit the building and reach the environment, thus creating massive holes within the Ozone layer which causes a .0001 degree rise in temperature. After all these studies and details were discovered, many scientist noticed, to solve global warming and not spend 500 billion more on claiming global warming was because of cars, they decided to spend 50 dollars and filter Crimson's house so c02 wouldn't escape...problem solved and the sun shines....unless your in japan and your sleeping. Ermm or you remove the rock on top of you to see how the real world looks like? It is a fact that the temperature IS rising. The discussion about is is however whether it is man caused or nature caused.

I'm sure man's fancy cars caused the ice age to end rock? theres no rock, no need to hunt down the little people, the thread doesnt seem to have been made to talk about what causes global warming, seems more for Blazer to alert everyone Crimson's just typing alot, and thus making a joke from it about global warming....if it was about discussing the cause, then I'm sure it would have been stated "What causes global warming".....

But wait, if no CO2 could escape from the house wouldn't that mean everyone inside would be eventually asphyxiated?

Oh wait...nevermind.

.....As long as it dont come out...the enviroment is safe...what goes on inside the c02 filled house...stays in the c02 filled house.
