
Subject: Re: C&C3 + G15 Keyboard

Posted by Sir Kane on Tue, 12 Jun 2007 09:54:26 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

troopr02 wrote on Mon, 11 June 2007 17:56:26) looking at his G15 keyboard and im dumb founded....although it does look slick, and im sure that led screen would be of some use, 75$ US for a keyboard? OD you not have any better use? I'd atleast by a ram upgrade, or some case mod or a fan, versus a keyboard for 75$ and appaarently makes you better ingame?

Are you saying that case mods are useful? That's pathetic. That keyboard has far more use than some stupid CCFL in the case or fans with LEDs.

Then, I couldn't agree more with Spooky, except the wall part. I actually like them because they are a cheap way to (temporarily) defend your base from rushes on all sides, allowing you to get some tanks there to keep the enemy off.

Viking appears to be just another TS fanboy and I never really liked that game, I totally prefer the other C&C games.

Long story short:

Viking = FAIL

C&C3 is an awesome game

Support for the LCD of the keyboard is a neat feature
