Then you are an idiot. That screenshot is of these forums. The text color etc is exactly the same, and I'm sure that if I cared enough, I could do a search on the database and find exactly which post the screenshot was taken of.

The fact of the matter may indeed be that you "believe" that the screenshot was taken from some other place, but the real FACTS are:

1. This site has no ads, never has, never will.
2. Your buddy (you apparently know who it is) made a post saying this forum has ads, said it was "gay", and even provided a screenshot of one of the ads.
3. After it was pointed out that there are definitely no ads on this site, your buddy and you now say that it was a "joke"

Any fool can see that he really thought the site had ads, and that he is/was infected with spyware, and is now trying to backpedal. FFS its just spyware, why hide it? Its not like he is admitting that he is gay.
