Viva la Resistance!

Your the person that resist things, correct?

Says so on your profile

Maybe you can resist what you see that is offending? If you see someone offending others twice, then you might as well report that (First one and Second one) but if someone does it once, why not forgive the guy?

Depends on how offending it is.

Still, if things were that rude then sure you can report it but wasting peoples time just for one comment is another
