Its a nice idea, but no.

We have these forums for the greater Community to use, so I don't see the point of having an other website and forum, lol.

Also, not many of us really get on with one other

On the server issue, alot of our servers are different, MP is very modded, we can rebuild our buildings in our servers in yours you cant, just to point out a difference, lol.

Also, maybe the smaller community's wouldn't be so small if the servers at the top of the listings wasn't fucking a00 whores.

I wouldnt mind seeing some of the main server communitys to have a forum added here which links to their forums or website, that would be pretty cool and this would promote them aswell make their communitys larger.

I dont see this as a problem, after all, this will always be the main official forum, but thing about this forum, it doesnt really promote anything, if it promotes anything, its always n00bstories.com
