Forums are all you really need invisionfree or proboards are a couple of free ones

If it's just you atm, I would suggest joining an existing clan/community rather than trying to do all this - there aren't many players about these days that are looking for clans.

You have very little chance of finding someone through here that is going to do all that for you.

Its DAM hell not easy to find Decent Players who want to join clans these days if your a new clan, I would defently recommend joining a clan over trying to form one now days!

It's difficult enough with my Clan thats about 7 months old.
