Every tournament I've played in, such as the old Xphaze tournaments, it was free to play as long as you had your team in time, and they had cash prizes as well. I don't think many people are up for paying ten bucks to play in a tournament for a game they've already paid for, especially if they lose, then they're just out ten bucks.