

---

Subject: Re: What happened?

Posted by R3N3G1DE on Mon, 23 Jul 2007 01:39:34 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Crimson wrote on Sun, 22 July 2007 10:38 Were they a couple of ticks? I'm thinking they were sucking on the dog's blood and something in the blood made them die. (isn't there a pill dogs can take that does that?)

34# NO

Thanks for your thought though.

cmatt42 wrote on Sun, 22 July 2007 15:27 Perhaps the dead couple are a couple of roaches. The dog accidentally set off one of those bug fogger bombs which killed the roaches, and since the dog senses the harmful scent, he tries to get out of the room.

35# NO

[b] I like the word, "accidentally."

Ancient_and_forever wrote on Sun, 22 July 2007 15:57 were the couple less than a decade old? had the couple eaten within the last 24 hours?

36# YES

37# YES

I wonder if your relating to real life (time)

cmatt42 wrote on Sun, 22 July 2007 16:50 Oh, this one is starting to sound familiar now.

The dog accidentally knocked over a fishbowl, knocking the couple of fish out, which then died of asphyxiation.

That doesn't explain why the dog is trying to get out, though.

Or maybe it knocked the fishbowl on purpose to drink the water, and after the fish suffocated, the dog had to go piddle, thus explaining it trying to get out.

38# YES, we have a winner!

"The dog accidentally knocked over a fishbowl, knocking the couple of fish out, which then died of asphyxiation."

The dog left with no defined reason.

cmatt42 - One Premium

One premium - 200 Points

Two Premium - 700 Points
Three Premium - 1000 Points

To make this interesting, they receive points, and the points will go down in history!

1# cmatt42
Total of Points: 200

---

Mission 1 Complete
Results: 38 attempts out of 100

---

Mission 2 (2 Premium for completion)

QUESTION:

A MAN WITH A PACK ON HIS BACK WENT INTO AN OPEN FIELD AND DIED.

What happened?