If you need something just for daily driving, i'd look for anything you know is good and is under 20 thousand dollars, once you go above 20 you'll find more powerful engines and useless junk like you said, a mini fridge, heated seats....heck i have even seen PERSONAL air condition for each passenger in some car a few months ago. Most cars today are becoming equiped standard with gadgets, like most cars today, even the cheap 13-14 thousand dollar cars, they come with power windows, power locks, air conditioning standard, well ok, so these have been "standard" for about 4-5 years now on the cheaper cars, but still, in your opinion Blazer, what car do you want? everyone is throwing out all kinds of makes and models.
