

---

Subject: Re: The draft!

Posted by cheesesoda on Thu, 16 Aug 2007 18:18:15 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Renx wrote on Thu, 16 August 2007 13:55cheesesoda wrote on Thu, 16 August 2007 12:47The whole idea of government-controlled equality is just a fantasy dream. I don't know about you, but I don't like my government spending more of my money than I'd like. Maybe you're used to it, but I couldn't imagine having the government take half of my income and spend it on coked-up assholes living on the street using my money to fuel their addiction.

Labor unions just further the whole, "we demand everything and expect to give as little back as possible". I understand the purpose of trying to protect the workers' rights, but the teacher's union in America is a prime example of socialism gone awry.

The point is to get them working and paying taxes too, not just to get them off drugs. The end result is better for everyone. And to stay on topic, another factor is probably to bolster the country's "fit for military service" numbers in case of a draft

Nobody should be forced to care about the "common good". I'm not going to spend your money, regardless if it's for a "worthy" cause, so I don't expect mine to be spent for anything besides on services for myself like law enforcement and education. Let me and others donate to charity if I want to. I work to live my life, not so some half-wit can live his/hers.

---