Subject: My fans..

Okay, So i just got finished installing BF2, After the installation it told me to restart my pc..

So I closed down all my program's, etc, then restarted my pc..

At the boot screen my fans just started going nuts! First thing I did was try to turn my pc off via button, but it didn't turn off.. (I holded the button on for a good second or 2), then, I jumped out my chair and ran for the plug and pulled them out!!

So here's me like what the fuck?, I opened the side of my pc and cleaned my fans out from the dust bunnies and checked to see if anything was melting, but thank god nothing was!

I'm wondering, has this happened to anyone else? Was my system overheating? If so should I leave it over night and try again tomorrow?

Also, One of the wires for my fan was twisted (I know I didn't do it), is that safe?
Here's a video of it!
