

---

Subject: Re: Question On SLI

Posted by luv2pb on Wed, 22 Aug 2007 20:09:45 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

What troop is talking about is cheap boards that are not true SLI. The ones that run the vid cards at half to make it work and seem cool. What do they have a real SLI board that actually uses both cards fully. But they tend to run quite a few more bucks. I have one 8800GTS and see no reason to add a second one. Even though I could.

But to answer your original question both my vid card and mother board both came with that stupid connector. What my video card didn't come with was the power adapter I needed (assholes). So I just bought a better power supply with the plug already on it lol.

over heating vid cards = bad fyi.

---