My truck has a tonneau cover, so whenever I hit drive-thru, I use the covered box as a table. Works fine, and you can hose off the ketchup.

I've never seen a sign like that though. If anything, it's done so that sit-in customers have a place to park, instead of a bunch of drive-thru'ers taking up spaces. After all, at least at my nearby McDonalds, the drive-thru is faster than standing in line.
