i have a question to you crimson, and blazer. (or whoever else leases their cars) i have never been able to understand why it is a good idea to lease cars? i mean when you buy a vehicle you could make your payments to be for the same time period as the warranty which is usually like 3-5 years. and after that once the warranty is up and you have finished paying it off you could trade it in and get another car... as with a lease you are paying almost the same price, you have the same warranty (or is it under warranty for as long as your lease?) and after your lease is up they give you the option of either buying the car for pretty cheap price, or moving on to a different car.

is there anything that i have missed or dont know? because to me it seems that it is better for you to buy the car rather than lease it. since in the end you end up having it rather than paying a little less and not owning it when the lease is up.
