

---

Subject: Re: Man returns gun ammo to walmart at 1300 feet per second

Posted by cheesesoda on Wed, 12 Sep 2007 17:09:14 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

EvilWhiteDragon wrote on Wed, 12 September 2007 12:44cheesesoda wrote on Wed, 12 September 2007 17:55EvilWhiteDragon wrote on Wed, 12 September 2007 11:54AoBfrost wrote on Wed, 12 September 2007 17:51There are many uses, such as starting the horse/dog races, you need a gun for that, you need guns for surround people when taking them down (if you are a police officer), you need guns to tell the speed of fast cars, theres more uses, but since i'm not into guns, I dont know, but just because the main uses are for the things said previously, it doesnt mean they should be banned, i'm all for people owning guns, as long as they dont abuse it, but heck, you cant read minds so you never know how will crack and use them, if we ban guns, then a knife or cross bow will start becomming common weapon, you want to ban knives? then bann kitchens knives to, screw cooking, maybe we'll eat out everyday at fancy italian places and just let them own knives since we all know for 100% sure they wont use them for injustice.

Ya i went a bit off topic, but the point if, if you ban guns from people, then ban them all, because there have been police cases in the past where police misuse a gun, heck even if you do ban guns, people will still OWN them, the black market, illegal imports, people know where to buy guns.

I stopped reading after "There are many uses, such as starting the horse/dog races, you need a gun for that,".

I had hoped you had a little more intelligence. Now I do see why you are pro-guns. It's a bit of a primitive thing, where you will probably feel right at home.

Wow, you're quite the arrogant son of a bitch, aren't you? Ever stop to think that just because you deem something pointless doesn't make it pointless to everybody else? I feel that your opinion is pointless, but I can't help but to think you feel otherwise.

Edit: Because they're not the same. BB guns are boring. I want something with more power. Why light a match when you can light a roman candle?

Edit2: Also, BB guns fail at home security. Shooting someone with small, copper BBs isn't going to stop an attacker, especially someone hellbent on harming you. So not only do guns serve the purpose for entertainment and show, but also for protection as we've been trying to beat into your empty heads.

Tell me why would a criminal harm you? Yes he does want to stel your stuff and yes I know that sucks, but unless you go waiving with a gun, there is no reason for the criminal to actually harm you. He might run and get away, resuming you caught him in the act.

Also, how often have you been robbed in your own home?

I have been robbed once, while we where on vacation, so no gun could've stopped the criminal. How many times have you been robbed and got the chance to respond on it (with or without gun, that doesn't matter now)?

You say you like real guns more then BBguns/ paintball guns because they have more power, well ok, but what can you do with that power? With the proposed bb/paintball gun you can actually fire on your mates and have a good time together. Something tells me that though you can point a real gun at your mates, you won't have a good time then.

Up until 2005, I could have said, "I never have been in a car accident, so why would I need car insurance". Well, August 2005 explains why...

Just because it hasn't happened yet doesn't mean that it won't.

Why do I have to fire a gun at someone to have fun? It's fun shooting at targets. Sure, paintball guns are fun, too, but it's quite a bit different.

As far as the whole psychological thing goes... at the very most someone needs to read up on gun handling, take a test, and be issued a license for it. I don't feel background checks are necessary.

---