It's not asking too much. There are plenty of devices out there (phones included) that have the first 5 of the 7 things I listed. Maybe the solution is to make a win/wince application that can emulate a phone with a pcmcia data card. Then you could just use a palmtop pc.