

---

Subject: Re: Suggestion: Official Community Server
Posted by EvilWhiteDragon on Thu, 13 Sep 2007 17:38:24 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Tunaman wrote on Thu, 13 September 2007 19:34EvilWhiteDragon wrote on Thu, 13 September 2007 05:27

Also, weirdly enough, it appears that USA players have less lag problems when playing a euro server then when a Euro player plays on a USA server.

From what I heard this is because USA datacenters don't have high quality links to Europe, while the Euro datacenters do. It has something to do with peering contracts, and that the European hosting companies are willing to pay a bit more for this peering, resulting in better connections.

For Renegade servers this doesn't really seem to be that true.. All of the euro servers I join besides a few(#GW and I didn't even know that Nightma's boxes were actually in Europe) I get 250+ ping, while most Euro players say that they get around 180-190 ping average..

I'm not saying this should be the same for everyone, I mean, everyone has different ISP's etc. Could you check your ping on the BlackIntel server once?

We optimized it to give a low as possible ping to anyone. My own ping is around 30-50.

I myself had a ping of 200+ on average when I once played the jelly servers. Never played there again because of the lag induced by the ping and the general playing style, but that might've been because of the sick number of players.

---