Can't remember offhand. I'd had a few beers at the time.

From looking at the picture though, it looks like:

Quote:Dear Lynn, Helen & John,

We hope you like how we've decorated the FRONT of your house, just the front.... nowhere else!
At all!

We're sorry for waking you up at 1am but we put the pegs back as we know that deep down inside you really appreciated the time and effort we put into decorating your house's exterior

Love Dave xxx

PS. The "chandeliers" were Edd's idea!

My neighbour's boyfriend went out for a fag or something at like 1am and saw all the pegs. So he and my neighbour put all the pegs on their house on my car. So when they went back in we took the 30 or so pegs off my car, put them back in the bucket and went back at 4am and did the whole house again unnoticed... apart from the dog which barked at us once and poked it's nose out the window every 5 minutes meaning we had to dive in the bushes under the window not to get detected. Gawd knows how he knew we were there.

I don't think they realised how many pegs we had!

If she retaliates, stage 2 will commence.

One of the guys in my cs clan has grouped together a few of his friends and bought 1500 pegs and done the same to one of his mate's houses aswell hah. Pics soon if he took any.
