

---

Subject: Re: are we alone?

Posted by R315r4z0r on Fri, 05 Oct 2007 01:00:48 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Also, there is one more thing that hasn't been considered yet.

Do you notice that all those facts posted in the first post are facts based on sustaining human life.

Well, if we don't take into account the ones that would destroy the planet or allow life support for any form of life, than we can just say that humans could of evolved differently to sustain the different environment of the earth.

So we could of turned out into a species that could of been water based, for all we know.

---