

---

Subject: Re: are we alone?

Posted by IronWarrior on Sun, 07 Oct 2007 20:04:20 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

razorblade001 wrote on Sun, 07 October 2007 00:55 That didn't actually answer my speculation. But you did make it easier to understand.

Using your example, of universe like micros in water and how they are all floating along side each other in water

But that was the question I was asking. What, using your example, is the water the universes are floating in? What lies BEYOND the universe, or what is containing the universe?

They did have an answer on that too, but I've forgot it, but what I'd can remember is that the universe's are just like cells in an human body and everything in the Universe has an job to do.

Not sure if know you get these programes on TV where you are at, but over here in the UK, one of our main tv channels, channel four, is showing alot of these programmes to explain this stuff.

---