Actually, you can only have 9 nicknames registered on a serial, but you can connect to XWIS with that serial as many times as you'd like. As long as the serial is not banned, there are no limits. You could have 20 nicknames owned by different serials and use them all with the same serial to connect all at the same time without a problem. And if you want to register a new name and have all your 9 used up, you can just delete a nickname you don't use anymore and register a new one.
