I could have sworn I posted this somewhere but I guess not.

I have always been burned by online Nintendo games. They always make exploits and never ever release patches to fix them. They also never have anti-cheat systems in place and anyone using action replay can easily play on their servers ruining any game they wish.

IE: Mario Kart DS, snaking first ruined the game and then after action replay came out people would instantly win a round or have blue flame always on.

Where is our patch for Wii Sports - Bowling? That was broken since day one and nothing has been done about it nearly a year later.
