I go out either playing pool or clubbing most Fridays. The difference between me and you is I'm not so pathetically insecure as you are that I'm desperate for people on the other side of the internet to think I have a life, so I don't feel the need to use the fact that I'm going out as an insult.

Newsflash: when you care that much about whether people you've never met think you're a loser or not, you're a loser.

Except when I say "everyone knows it's true", I'm referring to the fact everyone knows what I said is true because half of Smak have been on the end of one of your spiky bundles of renerage, and the other half have read about it on the forums and laughed their asses off at you.

caravan? Interesting insult coming as it does from someone completely 100% dependent on his parents, as you are now and probably will be for a lot longer than I was.

By the way, I've got 20 quid says you don't actually go out tonight... because if you act in real life anything like the permanently angry, pathetically insecure loser you act on the internet, there's no way you have any friends.
