I have a similar thought too now. I lol'ed at the "this is the gateway to hell" part. C'mon...be serious...you were supposed to look for the poor man.

I think it was a scheme to generate attention. Funny how they say it was like 400 miles of Catacombs and then they end up precisely in the area where the lost guy was in. Hmmmmm?

And why did the guy drop the camcorder? LOL...watching it again, I can't stop lol'ing at how he runs off into the dark passage after dropping his cam. I am sure he slammed into a wall shortly at 15 mph LMAO!

Check this out:

LOL it's says filmmaker as his occupation. haha!
