I've noticed a few faults from Renguard and I have a feeling it's a result of the latest patch. I've seen a lot of "complaint" posts here but it's usually people who just flame and cuss and end up on the wall of shame. I am in no way insulting RG. I appreciate the hard work you guys have done to create it because at one time, cheaters where everywhere and everyone stopped playing.

Let me get back to the topic at hand. Some of the issues I've seen, encountered and seen other people talk about is how it crashes almost every other time you load renegade.

Sometimes, when you load RG and Rene and connect....RG doesn't...

I've also noticed if you !rg someone and it says "They are not running RG" and you follow up with a !forcerg it say they are running RG.

I've asked some other people if they remember these issues with the previous version and they all said no.

I'm wondering if these issues have been address and are being or planned to be fixed. That's all, thanks for your time and keep up the good work.
