I'm sry, did anyone noticed a something about the marathon SSs, like the fact that none of the scores change yet the money does (take one step and see how all the scores change rapidly in a gam but here the scores are the same, can you say cut and paste, and why would somone have to edit the screen). My question is why is why are there so many threads about this?

I know I'm not a member of any clan, but I have had my thoughts on a few people that play, M0nKeyZ is one of them. Can't people just play without needing to cheat, I get my share of being killed (mostly by being run over and SBHs putting C4 on me)

I've been playing off and on for a while (since it was first released, and yes I'm usng TFD now, just don't want to scratch the originals) I don't need to cheat (ok, here is where the smart Aes say something like I need all the help I can get but it's not going to happen) I spend most of my time practicing in the skirmish maps, not much challenge there.

Real Marines don't lie, cheat, or steal.
