

---

Subject: Crying wolf

Posted by Javaxcx on Sun, 13 Jul 2003 01:25:21 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Sir PhoenixxJavaxcx

Quote:It's a glitch, a flaw, and you exploit it so you can have the advantage over the others in the game, exploiting it is cheating.

Granted, I can see why you would call it cheating, but you're not using a program which is defined to do a certain task, such as the Clickbots. Mr. Aircraftkiller has still shown no proof that such a program exists for the wallhack he's been claiming to exist.

You still haven't answered my question. Lets say there was a glitch in Renegade that made the hit zones incredibly larger, and gave whoever could succesfully exploit it a GREAT advantage, making nearly all of his shots toward an enemy head shots, and he used it. In your opinion, is/was he cheating?

Nope. Thats a hypothetical exploit, not a cheat. The person you state was merely exploiting a flaw in the game (hypothetical) which could be used by anyone at any time should they know your exploit. Something tells me, that just with B2B, which was an exploit (because it was never intended), or the OB walk, that when people become aware of these exploits, they are able to use them at their own discretion. It's not cheating if everyone is using it, it's common practice.

And General Havoc: This is the case of you, Aircraftkiller, and everyone else who denies to show any proof of these "cheats". You say something exists, you provide no proof but "Trust me, blah blah blah, I'm Mr. Righteous, put blind faith into me because I say so". I'm sorry, but I'm not one to put faith into someone I've never met or spoken to. I'm just that skeptical that any of these "cheats" exist.

---