

---

Subject: Re: Learnin' to pick locks, where to get stuff?

Posted by Zion on Mon, 10 Dec 2007 08:45:37 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

The thing is, most of that is pure bullshit.

Furries don't crave sex with anthropomorphic animals, that's just shite.

Furries, like myself, are proud of who they are. To me, i'm nothing more of a fox. I'm smart, sly, and intellegent like a fox.

A fur, on the most basic level, is someone who is more connected to their animal side than the rest of you trolling bastards.

If you ever go to a furcon or furmeet you will find that furs are better people to be around than in a games con or similar meet that consists of hoomans. Furries are great people to be around. They're warm, cuddly and someone you can trust and talk to about anything you want.

Even though those videos don't really effect me because i know what furs do (since i am one) and every word said is complete bullshit, it effected me on a subconscious level to the point of me writing this in defence of us all.

Think what you want about us, but can you not keep it to yourself?

---