Fact: More money isn't the answer.

Suggestion: Watch "Stupid in America".

Fact: John Stossel > you

Fact: Ad hominem gets you nowhere.

Fact: For any bit of statistic you can dig up, I can dig up another bit to contradict it.

Fact: Financial cost per student is much less three decades ago than it is now. Consider that any halfway decent school has a computer lab, and some have camera systems and metal detectors. Things that simply did not exist three decades ago.

Question: Why compare to 1977 anyway?

Suggestion: Don't turn this into a battle of statistics. It'll only wear us both out and turn into a contest of resolve.

Fact: John Stossel has a silly mustache, and he also not Borat, therefore Me > Him.

Suggestion: Ditch this bullshit.

Fact: This is the third time I'm asking you to stop pissing in the wind. I don't really care, I could go on for weeks, but this is far from the first time I've had this discussion, and it'd be nice if you offered something new or stfu.
