I have made plenty of websites, and mine worked in all browsers, not just in internet explorer.
Have you ever heard of standards compliance? No? Didn't think so.

EDIT: For anyone interested and who can't be bothered visiting their retarded site, this is what it looks like (click image for full size)

His content on the page may require java scripting, and i noticed you had that site blocked in No Script so... Might be worth looking into...
