I don't think I can read the rest of your post without laughing my ass off.

Anyway, the Government has plenty of research going into things such as time travel (I recall reading that they have at least one machine), mind control, alien contact, and a plethora of others.

I'm certain there are more things we don't know about, because the Government wants it that way for several reasons, such as having a militaristic advantage over other countries, preventing chaos within the country, etc.
