so....

i mean thats pretty much all i see here not really, pointing people to place where they can learn shit them selfs IS helping.

that way we might end up with another renegade playing modeler who then can help the big mods.

is just giving everything someone wants helping? specially if that someone is to lazy to learn shit them selfs?

Edit:

why do you think i wrote my skin tutorial (found on the jelly-server skin site for anyone thats interested), yea so people would stop bothering me to make stuff, but a lot of people picked up on it and a lot more people now know how to skin stuff.
