

---

Subject: Re: Sadukar09

Posted by BlueThen on Thu, 10 Jan 2008 03:43:32 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

–verb (used with object)

1. to dominate or preoccupy the thoughts, feelings, or desires of (a person); beset, trouble, or haunt persistently or abnormally: Suspicion obsessed him.

–verb (used without object)

2. to think about something unceasingly or persistently; dwell obsessively upon something.

Source... Dictionary.com

No where there, or anywhere it say's that it's when a person can't "control his/her desire"

It means your thoughts are overcome by something. If I had a obsession of donating to a charity, it doesn't mean I'd be uncontrollably donating. It means it's always in my head.

---