I do agree they are immature, however, the reasoning behind the 'lack of servers' is because people aren't dedicated enough to host APB servers.

MP Gaming are hosting their server, they have a coder (Oxi) who has made several modifications to the regulator which makes it better than the actual FDS.

Another reason why there is only a few servers is the lack of regulators made for APB. Danpaul is porting versions of BrenBot to work with APB's FDS.

It's not like the FDS is closed to select people, you can download it from the site. So if you're complaining about the 'lack of servers', you need to ask server hosters, not APB Staff.
