

---

Subject: Re: US bashing (I strike back)

Posted by Muad Dib15 on Tue, 15 Jan 2008 22:20:54 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

DoverMuad Dib15 wrote on Mon, 14 January 2008 16:52 You know what Dover, if you don't like this country, go back where you came from. I hate people like you that just bash our country when a) they live here and b) they aren't citizens yet/ are illegal immigrants.

Why do you think the last paragraph is complete bullshit? Is it because you don't like the fact that everything in there is completely true? We would have been completely content in staying isolationist, and because of the Japs we came into WW2. You say that the US is the epitome of evil, yet you fucking hypocrites continue to live here because you like the way you can do stuff here without getting in trouble. Would you be fine with the Soviet Union taking on the world out of desperation to save it, because it is completely screwed because they tried to stay afloat using communism? Why do you think the world has such good relations with the biggest and potentially most dangerous country in the world? Nixon. Guess what, Nixon was an American. What would you European leftists do if China attacked us?

"Oh, look. Our country has just been nuked. Lets go over to the Chinese and tell them to stop shooting missiles at us because that's not nice." That doesn't work. Look at what happened in 1939 because of that attitude.

Your pacifism sickens me.

Lol.

If you could please direct me to where I said I didn't like this country, or to where I said the US were the epitome of evil.

Also, the US was involved (out of combat) in WW2 far before Pearl Harbor, giving large amounts of money and military equipment to European allies. Don't get me wrong--There's nothing wrong with that, but don't pull the isolationist bullshit.

Oh, and Nixon was a douchebag.

Yes, I know about Nixon, but that wasn't the point. My point was, that he was the only person in the world that successfully smoothed out the path for the world with China.

Of course we would give money to the allies. We realized that he was a bad man, but we didn't want to get involved in a war half way across the world that didn't really concern us at the time. Once the Japanese attacked us though, we had a good reason to defend our selves. Sure we had an embargo on them, but that was because they were allied with hitler. In that argument, don't get me started on the mass Chinese rape in the late 1930s. (can't remember exactly what it was called) We didn't like the Japanese and what they were doing, so we put an embargo on them to stop their war effort. Then they attacked us and got us directly involved in the war.

---