Apologies for late post.

You deserve nothing but a punch in the face for trying to get credit for something that you shouldn't even get credit for.

Any half-assed slob could find a theme. It takes a fair amount less half-assed slobbiness to make a theme yourself. If you want credit for something, make it yourself, and then release it. Otherwise it'll get stolen and you'll have a hissy fit about it.

Edit: for those of you that couldn't figure it out: Directed at TEO
