Yesterday on my dialup, I was nod, I was like in this DM map that was in a powerplant and there was like 10 players, and I was like standing in the door way of the elevator so the elevator would not go down to the bottom of the floor of the powerplant where GDI was so it was like GDI could not get up and they thought that it was broken lol. So they go really angry and mad and they hated everyone. This is a really great tactic to get away to keep the people from coming up.
