DoitleQuote:ahh no censorship. personally i find it annoying that people who are parents want to complain that there children might see cursing. umm if you hadn't checked the box it has a TEEN rating so kids shouldn't be playing. so to hell with anyone who wants censorship.

"Well I have 3 boys, one is 2, the other is 5, and the other is 10 and a half. I just was appalled one day when I was watching my kids play this game! Promoting the killing of innocent people and policemen is horrible. This game and all others like it should be banned."

Did someone actually say that? She must have been really high and thought that she could get that game her children because all of thier ages put together equaled 17 (10+5+2=17). But seriously, she had to rent/buy that game for them and if the name, Grand Theft Auto 3 isn't enough to tell her that it's about stealing cars and crime, the lable that said "ages 17+" should have been enough to tell her that it's not for 10-year-olds. The 5-year-old probably isn't smart enough to even know that the buttons on the controller even effect what is on the screen. Bad, bad liar and parent, she is.
