If so, how is that not cheating on his wife.

According to Discovery, he killed himself because his wife found out he was sleeping with other males, i think, my memory of that time is vague...

His wife hardly had two brain cells to rub together for warmth. Part of the reason that the marriage worked out so well for both parties involved. Hitler gains a mindless woman-possession, she gains fame, wealth and prestige. That said, I doubt she would care if she walked in on Adolf smoking pole.

I think the killing himself (Along with his wife) might have something to do with the fact that he...you know...lost World War II? And was about to be captured and tried by Soviet Russia after breaking a non-aggression pact with them and killed 20 million of their citizen-soldiers?

Can you blame the guy? I'd kill myself too, assuming I was stupid enough to get into that situation.
