Generals isn't really C&C gameplay in my oppinion. It's more like Age of empires or one of those games... Plus FPS C&C gameplay is a lot different than normal FPS gameplay. C&C RTS gameplay isn't all that different than regular RTS gameplay. The main difference I'd probably note is they way the buildings are constructed.

That's it? That's the reason people don't like Generals? Because you have a "worker" unit doing building construction instead of the crappy (Before the nice facelift it got in C&C 3) sidebar system?

For fucks sake, learn to recognize progress when you see it.

"main difference"

Plus I never said I dislike like generals. Just that I like the other C&C games better (Tib sun and FS are kind of iffy as to whether better or worse than generals in my oppinion)
