Best damn game WS ever made. Though most people don't think it's balanced, I do! It's fun as hell, infact I've played it for 3 hours today. EA needs to make a Red Alert 3, BUT, with none of that RA2 bullshit they had, like apocolapyse tanks. They also need to keep superweapons weak like in RA1, demolition trucks should be available for both teams again. Of course, the new system C&C Generals is nice with the as many war facs as you want, but I think an RA3 should have Con Yards again, but maybe still have that, as many barracks/war fac you have, thats how many you can use at the same time instead of cutting down build time. We need a classic game like RA1 made into a modern graphiced game.

Also, if anyone knows where there is a link or email to EA for sugestions, I would really like to know seeing, as the one for Westwood no longer exists
