

---

Subject: Re: Should the community have a "say"?
Posted by Goztow on Sun, 27 Jan 2008 17:49:17 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

luv2pb wrote on Sun, 27 January 2008 17:50 Not to be harsh but this place isn't worth a damn. If I'm going to pay for something on the internet it isn't going to be this. Reneagdeforums could go off tomorrow and I don't think it would really matter all that much.

The dynamic of moderating this site is a cluster fuck. It is a secondary thing to every member of the staff. Crimson is not the type of person to throw down when people get stupid or things get rough. We don't have that problem at n00bstories because that is where I step in. She doesn't have a luv2pb here. Then you couple that with the fact that 99% of the members really could care less if they got banned and you get renegadeforums.
You really shouldn't talk for other people.

About the topic: I think it's going well with Crimson on 'top'. If u give the 'power' to too many people, things will really get effed.

A bit more moderating is good, that doesn't mean u need to suddenly make it an "open source community"...

---