
Subject: Re: Should the community have a "say"?

Posted by Blazer on Sun, 27 Jan 2008 23:11:52 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

luv2pb wrote on Sun, 27 January 2008 09:50 Not to be harsh but this place isn't worth a damn. If I'm going to pay for something on the internet it isn't going to be this. Reneagdeforums could go off tomorrow and I don't think it would really matter all that much. Tell us how you really feel luv2pb wrote on Sun, 27 January 2008 09:50 The dynamic of moderating this site is a cluster fuck. It is a secondary thing to every member of the staff. Ummm I'll have you know that I log into these forums at least half a dozen times a day, and every time I am dealing with spam, reported messages, and the like. In fact, the FIRST thing I did when I woke up today was come here, just to read you announcing that moderation is secondary...LOL

luv2pb wrote on Sun, 27 January 2008 09:50

Crimson is not the type of person to throw down when people get stupid or things get rough. We don't have that problem at n00bstories because that is where I step in. She doesn't have a luv2pb here. I'd have to partially agree with you there...Crimmy is a bit soft-hearted and often either won't lay the smack down when she should, or she let's them talk their way out of it. Fortunately, I have no problem with banning fucktards, as you saw with my recent bannings of the Plecos-posters.

luv2pb wrote on Sun, 27 January 2008 09:50

Then you couple that with the fact that 99% of the members really could care less if they got banned and you get renegadeforums. That may be part of the above problem, they know that even if they get banned, they can sweet-talk their way out of it, or they just go and play Habbo Hotel while they wait for their ban to expire

If you are fed up with the spam and such that you see, try to remember that what you are seeing is only what is slipping by the mods, and that includes with me logging in throughout the day everyday. Believe me, its much more frustrating on this end, as you have no idea the amount of crap that we have been cleaning up. If you are frustrated at the level of moderation, by all means apply to be a mod, and join the clusterfuck I'll even make sure you get into the credits this time