Team =NX= has a dedicated C&C Renegade Division. With a website, funding and general management professionally run the team is about to celebrate 10 years existence.

If you love C&C Renegade and would like to play together with guys from countries all round the world then we might just be for you. We don't claim to be the best players in the world but we can hold our own and we generally have fun doing it.

We are not fussed about your skill level. What's most important is your personality...game skills can be learned/taught.
