Subject: Re: Should the community have a "say"?
Posted by Starbuzz on Mon, 28 Jan 2008 03:50:07 GMT

R315r4z0r wrote on Sun, 27 January 2008 12:30I said above about not caring about having a say.

However I do care about the community. I would gladly donate some money just to help out. But donating money just to have a "say" in what goes on seems kinda retarded.

Bottom line is I would much rather pay money randomly just to aid the community rather than pay money so I can give my 2¢ on some matter.

I am not so sure about cheesesoda's proposal depsite its good intentions. However, I agree completely with you.

They should have the Donate button somewhere here on the first page so members who care about this community could donate and support.