

---

Subject: Re: Image hosting and compression before uploading

Posted by light on Wed, 30 Jan 2008 02:43:13 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I use flickr for a lot of my stuff, which always takes my 100% images and offers different sizes for people viewing. (Which is good, depending on the camera I use they can be 4MB+ at the real size.

Screenshots I usually compress to 85% quality, just because there's no need for 100%.

---