
Subject: Re: Presidents

Posted by BlueThen on Wed, 30 Jan 2008 20:41:21 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

cnc95fan wrote on Tue, 29 January 2008 17:20
Canadacd wrote on Tue, 29 January 2008 21:01
cheesesoda wrote on Tue, 29 January 2008 15:53
You're a prime example of why Americans are so apt to tell foreigners to shut the fuck up and worry about their own countries. I know I feel that way.

Foreigners shouldn't shut the fuck up about American politics, seeing as America is the most powerful country in the world and therefore will usually influence many foreign countries in one way or another.

You people, living in North America, live in different conditions to us. Lots of stuff that happens where you are, is "weird shit" to us. The way we see it (I probably speak for a lot of people here, but not all) is that America is in the shits, we hear of mass murderings every few months, people in your own countries are making documentaries about the situation of America ATM, and they provide good points. You live in a false sense of freedom (not Canada) which is run by a 4 year term dictator. I know you have governors to do this, that and the other, but he's the man in charge, amrite?

...and you believe this stuff?
