21:24Wouldn't that mean I would need something like this:

If the TV is the weakest link wouldn't there be some kind of converter available to go from a standard DVI or VGA to HDMI. Although after reading over that blog post I noticed HDMI can carry sound?

What graphics card do you have now? Yeah that card would work but its not exactly a good card.

I don't understand why you would want a converter? If you have a HD Ready TV then it should come with a HDMI port on the back. Where and why does the converter come into play?

His graphics card has no HDMI out port, I assume.
